

Matt Anderson

Co-founder

Matt is co-founder of Social Capital, the principal of Anderson Strategy, and a Strategy Designer with the global group Business Models Inc.

Matt has been a social entrepreneur for over 20 years — including founding a number of impact organisations, working as an organisational development and innovation coach, and being the catalyst for many cross-sector collaborative projects.

He has worked at both the grassroots level as well as in a national and international capacity — including with World Vision, one of the world's largest social impact organisations with 45,000 staff in almost 100 countries.

Matt spoke at TEDxAdelaide about transforming cities through collaboration. He holds a Master's Degree in Professional Practice and he works with purpose-driven entrepreneurs, companies and organisations to create blended economic, environmental and social value.
